ARMAN JURY DISAGREES, TEN FOR ACQUITTAL.

Accused Woman will Probably not be Brought to Trial Again.

After Thirteen Hours of Deliberation and Taking of Five Ballots Judge Orders the Panel Discharged. Foreman, on Verge of Breakdown, Declares She is Disappointed at the Verdict.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The jury in the trial of Mrs. Florence Carman, accused of murdering her husband, was discharged today after thirteen hours of deliberation and taking of five ballots. The jury was out about midnight.

The jury was said to have voted ten for conviction and two for acquittal. The judge in the first degree on the verdict. The jury was out about midnight.

At the suggestion of John J. Graham, Mrs. Carman's chief counsel, Justice Kelly asked the jury whether they were ready to acquit. The jury was out about midnight.

As the jurors returned to the room, where they had been deliberating, to get their hats and coats, Mrs. Carman burst into tears. "Oh, I am terribly disappointed," she said. "I felt sure the jury would acquit me."

As Mrs. Carman was led from the courtroom she faintly said she was quickly revived and then continued her journey to her cell. The jail physician was summoned. He said her condition was worse than at any time since she had been arrested.

Ludlum, the foreman, in discussing the deliberations of the jury, said five ballots were taken. On the first ballot the jurors stood nine to three for acquittal, on the other four ballots the vote was ten to two.

At 2:45 p.m. the jury was discharged. The jury was out about midnight.

UNKNOWN TRIBE IS FOUND. DRESS IN MACAW FEATHERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Tribes heretofore unknown, who wear clothing made from the feathers of the Macaw and other birds of rich plumage, have been found in the southern part of British Guiana among the Carab and Arowak Indians by the University of Pennsylvania's Amazon expedition. The discovered fact was made known today by the receipt from Dr. William C. Farabee, head of the expedition, of a valuable collection of ethnological specimens. This is the first word received from the party since last July.

WILL MONROE DOCTRINE STOP CANADIAN INVASION?

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Germany's right to land troops in Canada, if possible, and thus secure at least a temporary foothold on the American continent, was upheld today by Count von Bernstorff, German Ambassador here, who declared this would not be a violation of the Monroe doctrine.

The Ambassador suggested that, as Canada was sending soldiers to Europe to fight against his country, the United States should not consider it in any sense an infringement of the Monroe doctrine if Germany should land an armed force on Canadian soil.

ENGLAND SAYS COTTON IS NOT CONTRABAND.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Sir Edward Grey, British Minister for Foreign Affairs, has assured the United States through Ambassador Page at London, that England will not interfere with American cotton shipments as "contraband of war."

This was announced today at the State Department. Ambassador Page also reported that the British ship Camperdown, laden with American cotton products, detained at Stornoway, Scotland, was not held because of her manifest, but on account of a disagreement of her owners and the charter party.

Sir Edward Grey cabled the British Embassy tonight confirming the assurances given Ambassador Page.

On receipt of the message the Ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, issued this statement:

"The assurance may be given that cotton is not on the list of contraband and will not be seized. It is on the free list and will remain there."

In a supplementary statement the Embassy again pointed out that cotton, cargoes, even of contraband, are being allowed to proceed where it is

RESERVE BANKS TO OPEN ON NOVEMBER SIXTEENTH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The twelve Federal reserve banks of the new banking system will be opened for business on November 16. This was announced today officially.

Secretary McAdoo, authorized by the currency act to name the opening date, made the announcement. His choice of the 16th was made despite the fact that the directors and governors of the twelve banks, in a recent conference here, voted this date for the opening of the new system.

In making the announcement, Mr. McAdoo declared he had reached his choice after discussion with the Federal Reserve Board and because of emergency conditions in the South, in the belief that the opening of the banks will be helpful there and will benefit business in all sections of the country.

In a statement issued tonight, the Secretary made it clear that the new system the Federal government will be able, by deposits from the general fund of the treasury in reserve banks, to aid producers of staples. The new reserve requirements oper-

DIXMUDE PRESENTS SCENE OF TERRIBLE GRANDEUR.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 25, 2:40 a.m.—"As far as the eye could reach nothing could be seen but burning villages and bursting shells," says the Daily Telegraph correspondent in Belgium who, accompanied by a son of the Belgian War Minister, M. de Broqueville, made a tour of the battlefield in the Dixmude district last Wednesday.

"I realized for the first time how completely the motor car had revolutionized warfare and how every other factor was now dominated by the absence or presence of this unique means of transport."

French and British said to Have Advanced Appreciably East of Nieuport—Russians now Waging Heavy Battle in Poland, Where Kaiser's Army is Putting up a Stubborn Resistance after Receiving Reinforcements.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Oct. 26 (via London).—The French occupy Thann, the Valley of Moenster, the Valley of Wesser and all the passes there, including the Pass of Sainte Marie, in Alsace, says an Excelsior message from Geneva, Switzerland, on the authority of what is declared to be a credible witness from the battlefield.

AMSTERDAM (via London) Oct. 25.—A Berlin dispatch received here gives a report from the German general headquarters under date of Sunday morning. It says:

"The Yser-Ypres Canal, between Nieuport and Dixmude, was crossed Saturday by further strong German forces after heavy fighting."

"East-northeast of Ypres the enemy has received reinforcements, but in spite of this our troops have advanced at several points, capturing about 500 British, among them twenty-eight officers, including a colonel."

"In the east our forces have begun an offensive movement on Augustow. Near Inwangor our troops are fighting jointly with the Austro-Hungarians and have taken 1800 prisoners."

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Driven back from the coast by the fire of the French and British warships, the German troops, after a week of the most violent fighting, have turned inland and forced their way across the Yser Canal west of Dixmude.

Pressing their advantage the Germans in a mighty effort to gain a victory continue rushing forward all the reinforcements that can be spared and in their official reports claim to be slowly but definitely pushing the allies back.

Of the gains claimed by the Germans, the French reports confirm the crossing of the Yser Canal, but declare a very violent battle still is raging between Nieuport and the River Yser. At this point the Germans claim to have taken 500 British prisoners.

Of the battles on the center and left wing the German report does not speak, but the French declare they are maintaining their positions in the Argonne and on the heights of the Meuse and have destroyed three more German batteries.

From unofficial sources it is learned that the French have made some advance in the mountains along the Alsace border.

To add to the trials of the troops engaged in the northwest a short spell of fine weather has given place to another downpour of rain, which

FIGHTING POWER OF GERMANS PUTS THEM NEARER DUNKIRK.

BY AN ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF "THE ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL."

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—The Germans have succeeded in the first step in their new campaign for the capture of Dunkirk. By sending up their big guns to the front, supported by reinforcements from their reserves, they have forced back the Belgian line between Dixmude and the coast.

Not only did the canal form a serious obstacle for the troops to cross under fire, but the Belgians had had time to entrench their defensive line.

The German success could have been obtained only by concentrating at the point of attack such great strength in field guns that they were enabled by the gun fire to keep the Belgians from manning their firing trenches. The advance of the German columns in superior numbers then gave the Belgians no choice but to retreat to a new line, where they would not be swept by the fire of the German artillery.

NEXT MOVE BY ALLIES.

The steps that are taken by the allies to counteract this reverse will be an indication of the strength with which they are holding their left flank. If they feel confident concerning their dispositions, they will push forward their troops from Ypres and Roulers. By threatening the German flank and rear they will force the retirement of the troops that are now attempting to advance along

GERMANS FIGHTING POWER.

The stubbornness with which the Germans have been holding their line from St. Mihiel through Apremont and Thiaucourt to Pargny, on the Moselle River, shows a noteworthy fighting power. On account of the great value ascribed by the French to the maintenance of their defensive line along the Cotes de Meuse, they have been making vigorous attacks with every available force in the effort to cut in behind the Germans at St. Mihiel and thus force their retirement. While the Germans are appreciably outnum-

Battle of La Basse.

BOTH SIDES REINFORCED AND MASSACRE CONTINUES.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The German masses at La Basse appear, from the desperate efforts they are making to be trying to shake them selves loose from the close grip of the allies who menace their communications from there and from Arrmentieres. The intense ardor of the battle was undiminished today. Both armies received reinforcements, but the allied lines withstood formidable shocks and delivered severe counterattacks.

The furious nature of the conflict can be gathered from the fact that in front of one British infantry division in a very small space over 1500 German bodies were found after an engagement, while 600 German prisoners were taken by the British in the course of one attack.

La Basse, which forms a prominent point near Lille, is a very important point covering railroads, which the Germans seem determined to capture at whatever cost, but the allies' resistance hitherto has been too stubborn. The battle continues its course with unabated violence near the Belgian coast, and the Germans were able to force themselves across the Yser, which is a sluggish, shallow river, where the allies opposed them with a strong defense along every foot of the ground.

Gen. Von Kluck's army, which was thought to be in Belgium, has not moved from its position on the Aisne, but three other German armies have completely changed their fronts. Grand Duke Albrecht of Wurtemberg now commands the forces in Belgium, while Gen. Von Bulow is farther down and the army of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria is stretched along a line of trenches on an extended battle front between the Somme and the Aisne and from Rheims to the Argonne region.

In this last named region the fighting is only desultory. The troops on both sides are getting tired of the inactivity, but the positions of the opposing armies are too strong to permit of successful assaults. Therefore, the campaign here has become one of patient endurance. The cold wet nights are very trying, being relieved by only occasional spells of activity which do not last long. Most of the men lie on the straw in the deep trenches, but lookouts are posted will convert the lowlands of Flanders into great lakes.

Many of the German soldiers at Dixmude have come from Berlin within the last few days. Arriving at the scene of battle they have been sent at once into the trenches, which were waist deep with water.

The Belgians, under cover of a fog, approached the trenches and at the point of the bayonet made prisoners of a large number of the invaders.

The same time the contest was resumed at numerous other points, but the result was different and the casualties were large.

The fact that the allies have advanced appreciably east of Nieuport, as officially announced, had helped to

NISH (Serbia, via London) Oct. 25.—The Serbian War Office has issued the following:
"On October 19 detachment of the enemy advanced from Modropolje north of Kalinovik, Herzegovina, against the flank of the Montenegrin troops' east positions at Kalinovik. A Montenegrin detachment from Borivatz, perceiving the enemy's movement, attacked their flank and defeated them, capturing a mountain gun, nine caissons and a large number of rifles.
"On October 21 a battle took place all along the Bosnian front, both Serbians and Montenegrins taking part. The Balkan artillery repelled all attacks, and took 200 prisoners, including one field officer and four subalterns.
"In view of the enemy's severe attacks, the Montenegrin troops have been compelled to fall back a little beyond their positions."

An official statement issued at Vienna on Friday said that Serbian and Montenegrin forces which had penetrated the Southeastern Bosnian frontier were defeated on October 22 after a battle of three days.

REPORT VICTORY FROM PETROGRAD.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
PETROGRAD, Oct. 25.—The following communication was issued from general headquarters tonight:
"On October 23 and 24 the Russian troops inflicted several defeats on the German rear guards, who were attempting to hold positions along the rivers Ravka, Skernecka and Rykka.

"Lovins, Skiernecka and Rawa were taken by bayonet attacks.
"The Austrians in retreat with the Germans in roads near Radom, having received reinforcements and profiting by the wooded and rolling character of the region, offered stubborn resistance to our offensive, which developed into an engagement of considerable dimensions. At that place we captured prisoners, cannon and rapid-firers.
"Along the River San and south of Przemyśl desperate fighting continues. An attempt by the Austrians to turn the Russian left wing south of Przemyśl failed, the Austrians suffering great losses.
"An Austrian column, which descended the Carpathians near the town of Dolina (twenty-two miles from Stry), was defeated and dispersed."

"According to the Reuters Telegram Company, many children who were drawn into the streets by curiosity, were struck. Each aeroplane apparently has an equipment of five bombs, which were fired at intervals in the flight across the city.

FIGHTING FOR AUSTRIA; WANT RUSSIANS TO WIN!

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Bernard Pares, professor of Russian history and literature at the University of Liverpool who is now at the Russian quarters writes as follows under date of October 24:

"I have spent some days in Austrian territory conquered by the Russians. The Russian broad-gauge railroad has been carried some distance into Galicia and further railroad communication with the Austrian gauge and cars is in working order.

"The large waiting-rooms are filled with wounded on stretchers. Doctors and sisters of mercy are in constant attendance upon them. The wounded utter no sound except in a few cases. I talked with three Hungarian privates, keen-eyed and vigorous. They said their men were very good with the baronet and seldom surrendered—a statement which was confirmed by a Russian cavalry officer who had just returned from fighting in the passes.

"Though it seems the Hungarians do not consider the war as national beyond the Carpathians they fight well because they are warlike and not because they like this war. Prisoners with whom I talked with treatment energetic in praising their treatment."

FOOD PRICES IN AUSTRIA ARE INCREASING RAPIDLY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

OLA, Austria (via Venice and Paris), Oct. 25.—The prices of provisions here have increased greatly. Bread costs twenty cents a kilogram (2 1/5 pounds); more than double the usual charge. The civil population have been told that they must lay in food for six months or leave town. Already hundreds of people have departed. Trieste and the surrounding country are exceedingly quiet. The people generally seem greatly depressed.

Trieste has only enough imported coal on hand to last until December after which time it must burn Styrian coal, which is of poor quality and is useless for gas manufacturing purposes. The streets are only half lit in order to save gas.

REPLACES VODKA LICENSE WITH INCOME TAX LAW.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD, Oct. 25.—Russia soon will have an income tax to compensate the government for the enormous loss sustained through the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of vodka, if the Minister of Finance succeeds in his present plans. This monopoly has yielded an average yearly income of about $60,000,000 rubles, (approximately $400,000,000).

"There are two ways in which we are trying to raise this necessary revenue," said Minister Park in a recent interview.

"The first is by the increase in present duties on ordinary commodities. Under the Russian fundamental law when the Duma is not in session, the Emperor has the right to make laws affecting the revenue from already existing duties. Upon my recommendation several of these already have gone into effect.

CANADA LOSES OFFICER IN WAR.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE]

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—Major T. Rivers Bulkeley, controller of the household of the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, has been killed in action at the front, according to a cable message received at Government House.

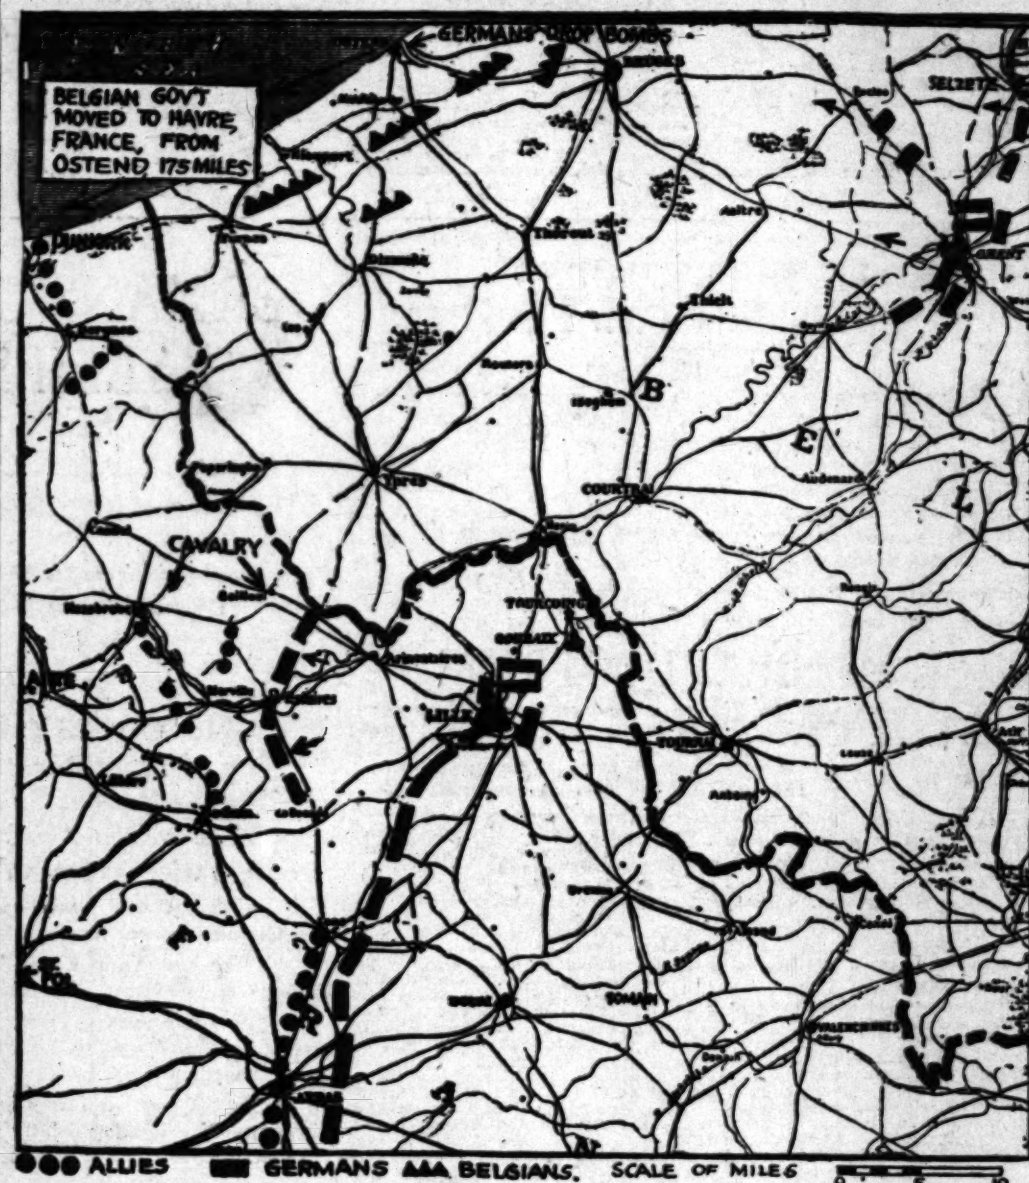

IRISH WILL FIGHT, SAYS REDMOND.

BELFAST, Ireland, (via London) Oct. 25.—That Ireland would maintain her place as a fighting nation was the declaration of John E. Redmond, National leader, in addressing a meeting of volunteers here today.
"Ireland's rights," said Mr. Redmond, "are not to be defended merely within the Irish shores. If the manhood of Ireland refused to strike a blow where real fighting is going on, the country would be covered with a red ruin, Ireland would be humiliated, if, after the war, it had to be admitted that the safety and liberties of Ireland had been guarded by the sacrifices of other men while Irishmen remained at home and took none of the risks."

Thirty-five thousand men from all parts of Ireland have joined the army since the beginning of the war, Mr. Redmond added.

Dunkirk and Dixmude, the two towns prominently mentioned in last night's war dispatches, are shown on the above map. Dunkirk is said to be the German objective whence the Kaiser is calculating to launch an expedition against England. Dixmude is the town where, according to the Paris official report, the Belgians repulsed the Germans.

could on foot to the rear. They were frightened to death by bursting shells and the sight of crying children and the sight of the German attack, the shells burst all around them. A crowd of people was blowing whole streets to pieces. From a distance of three miles we could hear them crashing down, but the town itself was invisible except for the flames and the smoke and clouds rising above it. The Belgians had only a few field batteries, so that the enemy's howitzers simply annihilated the town and the trenches around the town had to rely upon their own unaided efforts.
"Our progress along the road was suddenly stopped by one of the most terrible sights I have ever seen. A howitzer shell had fallen and burst right in the midst of a Belgian battery making its way to the front, causing terrible destruction. The mangled horses and men among the debris presented a shocking spectacle. "Every man who got into Dixmude itself and every time a shell came crashing among the roofs we thought of the end had come. The Hotel de Ville (Town Hall) was a shell of the last German claim.
"The latest French reports admit that the Germans have crossed the Yser, but they are not mentioned in the official German reports. It is not known, therefore, whether this is a reiteration of the previous acknowledgment of a German crossing there or is confirmation of the last German claim.
"Along the remainder of the battle front in Belgium only brief mention of the operations is made. South of Lille, the French claim repulse to the German advance and the allies near Soissons and Craonne. Artillery engagements are proceeding on the heights of the Meuse and in the Woerthe district. In the Argonne a German infantry regiment is said to have been annihilated.

MARITZ ATTACKS AFRICAN TOWN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Pretoria (Transvaal) correspondent of the Reuters Telegram Company has forwarded the following official statement:
"Lieut.-Col. Maritz (the head of the rebellion in British South Africa) attacked Keimoes, a small town, at 8 o'clock on the morning of October 25, with a force of more than 1000 men, including several hundred German and artillery and machine guns. Only a few men were killed. The enemy left two dead, one German and the other a native."

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Fierce fighting between the allies and the Germans continues in the western theater of war, especially in the district around Nieupoort and southeastward toward the River Lys. The Germans claim that they have thrown additional forces westward across the Yser between Nieupoort and Dixmude and that, despite the fact that the allies had received reinforcements, the Germans have advanced several points northeast of Ypres and taken over 400 British prisoners, several of them officers.
"The latest French reports admit that the Germans have crossed the Yser, but they are not mentioned in the official German reports. It is not known, therefore, whether this is a reiteration of the previous acknowledgment of a German crossing there or is confirmation of the last German claim.

MIGHTY BATTLE ON IN POLAND.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—In an effort to destroy the German and Austrian forces which were defeated in their first attempt to cross the Vistula between the fortresses of Ivangorod and Radom, the Russians are now waging a heavy battle in Poland.
"The official Russian report says that the German advance is being met with stubborn resistance, and that the German forces have been brought up by the Germans."

Both sides have, according to their own reports, made prisoners and captured guns, but the battle which is being fought in Poland is not yet decided. The Russians report, however, that Lovins, Rawa and Skiernecka have been taken by bayonet attacks.
"The Austrians are still making a bold effort to cross the River San and are carrying on a splendid fight south of Przemyśl in the hope of reaching and recapturing Lemberg. The Montenegrins today admit that they have had to withdraw to their previous positions along the Bosnian frontier after an attack by a superior force of Austrians."

FOR TRANSFER OF AUSTRIANS.

ROME, Oct. 25.—The Austrian prisoners of Italian nationality whom the Russian Emperor has proposed to transfer to Italy, according to reports received at the Austrian-Russian Embassy, number 5000, and belong to the districts of Trent, Trieste, Gorizia and Dalmatia. It is said that the Russian Emperor is about to notify the Italian government that he is ready to deliver these prisoners to Italy without the imposition of any condition, although the first proposal laid down the condition that they be not permitted to return to Austria.

THREE GERMAN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The French aviator, M. Poirot, who is serving with the Russian army, outwitted and by his intrepidity escaped three German aeroplanes through flying at a lower level, says a Havas agency dispatch from Petrograd.
"Though subjected to attacks from the aeroplanes above, the Russian plane was brought back to the Russian lines, without harm to himself, important information of the movements of the enemy along the Vistula River."

LONDON, Oct. 25.—"The early return of the government to Paris is being seriously considered," says a Reuters dispatch from Paris. "The military situation as a whole is regarded as extremely satisfactory. Despite the enormous reinforcements received, the Germans have been unable to pierce the allies' lines, and Gen. Sir Charles Whittingham-Horley Douglas, chief of the British General Staff, is dead. The death is also reported of the German Major-General, who was killed in action in the Argonne region.
"Berlin announced the arrival of the submarine U-9, which recently sank the British cruisers Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue. The submarine at last had been brought back to the Russian lines, without harm to himself, important information of the movements of the enemy along the Vistula River."

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The following official communication was issued by the French War Office tonight:
"The action has continued under the same conditions as on preceding days. A battle of a very violent character is in progress between Nieupoort and the River Lys. The German forces have succeeded in crossing the Yser between Nieupoort and Dixmude.
"To the west and to the south of Lille spirited attacks by the enemy have been repulsed.
"Between the Oise and the Argonne there is nothing to report except several small advances by our troops to the northwest of Soissons and in the region of Craonne.
"On the heights of the Meuse there is an artillery engagement. In the Woerthe region our heavy artillery holds today under its fire the road connecting Thionville and Vancor, Buxerelles and Joinville, which is one of the principal lines of communication of the Germans near St. Mihiel.
"It is reported that yesterday in the Argonne region an entire regiment of the Germans was annihilated during an operation which was extended to the wood to the north of Lachalade."

CONDEMNED ANTWERP FORTS.

English Expert Says Plans
Totally Inadequate.

Protest to King Leopold was of no Avail.

Armament Said to be Weak and Slow Acting.

LA. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Speaking of the fall of Antwerp, Lord Sydenham, the leading British fortification expert, states that when he examined Belgium's defenses in 1890, at the request of King Leopold, he strongly condemned those of both Liege and Namur, and expressed disappointment in the plans then being carried out at Antwerp.

These forts, Lord Sydenham says, he announced at that time could not then have withstood a concentrated attack by field artillery. This statement led to a controversy with the famous Belgian engineer and author of the defense plans, General Brialmont. But Brialmont was able to convince his government and carry out his plans.

As to the forts at Liege and Namur, then under construction, Lord Sydenham says he gave the following reports to Leopold: "I declared they could not hold their intervals properly, that their armaments were weak and slow in action and that if the places were to be held it could only be done by constructing field entrenchments with artillery and machine guns in the intervals. The number necessary to man the field trenches alone I placed at 70,000 men, exclusive of the garrisons of the forts. It is clear that in the recent fighting the intervals were neither properly entrenched nor adequately manned. The reason why the Germans failed at the beginning to carry Liege was only because they tried to storm the eastern front without adequate artillery preparation. Nevertheless they entered the town through undefended intervals and as soon as the artillery came up the forts fell."

The ordinary permanent fort is simply a shell trap, which cannot resist the concentrated fire of modern howitzers. These days, the conventional fort is at a further disadvantage in that the attacking fire is directed by aeroplanes, he said.

Lord Sydenham considers his theories further borne out by the facts along the Aisne. There two vast armies conducted an artillery battle for weeks without either side getting a material advantage. Fighting from the extreme fortifications erected during the course of the war. "Artillery defense must be independent of the forts," said Lord Sydenham, "with guns and howitzers well concealed in the intervals, but so placed that they can move from spot to spot. Infantry entrenchments, with good shelters are the backbone of defense. If the Belgians had done this at Antwerp, the loss of a fort need not have compromised the defense."

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY TALKS HEART TOPICS.

How to Entertain a Young Man Caller.

"It lies not in our power to love or hate. For will in us is overruled by fate."

"Will you please give me a set of rules for entertaining a young man caller?"

"This is a question asked me continually by young girls. They usually explain that when a young man calls once or twice he does not continue coming. They are quite sure that the reason is he does not find them entertaining."

Some admit they are poor conversationalists. When a young man is in their parlor, they declare, they find themselves at a loss just what to say and how to say it, and on what subject to begin."

In the first place give him a comfortable chair. If he is a very tall man, don't seat him in the tiny little rocker you find so comfortable, where his knees will be parallel with his chest, making him instantly feel out of sorts with you and the rest of the world. If he is short, don't place for him a high chair, where his feet dangle an inch or so above the floor. It would scarcely take a cap and a bell to make him feel like a dunce. He will cut short his call quickly, to get out of his discomfort.

No man expects a girl to talk like a book. There is no set of rules on this subject. Every girl must have her own sweet, natural self. My dear, let me give you this wee bit of advice: Don't start in hammer and tongs to talk of something, anything you thought may wildly grasp at, as soon as he has seated himself, as though your very life depended on your quick conversation. Give him an opportunity to make some remarks after the first words of greeting are over. That is a wonderful help to make a man feel at ease. Don't consider that it interests him to hear of all the beaux you could have on your string by simply inviting them to call. He may get discouraged at the outset against battling with such an array of would-be wooers, and may conclude to give them the field for themselves. Worse still, he might imagine you a flirt, eager for win hearts for the sake of throwing them over. You should not introduce dreary topics or regale him with how your Aunt Esther caught the measles, and all the weary torture she is going through. Of course he would have to sigh and try to console you and draw the picture of misery out to great length. He will be looking for a loophole through which to escape, longing to get away to where he can hear pleasant chatter that will keep his spirits up.

A man would rather have a hearty laugh with you than be forced to join in a sigh. Even a beauty cannot afford to let her tongue wag continuously, and keep the muscles of her face working. While she is doing this, he has nothing to do but sit and look at her, studying up any little deficiencies she may have.

Bright is the girl who adroitly leads her caller to do his share of the conversation. Every man has his hobby. It is sure to be interested when he talks of it. Be a good listener, with an animated expression of interest, a smile thrown in the right place now and then, and he will leave you thinking he has never been so charmingly entertained; that you are a wonderfully clever girl, although you may have had very little to say. It pleases a man's fancy to believe that what he says interests a girl. There is really no reason to be learned on this subject. Be sweet, modest and agreeable; that is the best advice I can give you on a matter which seems to be of such absorbing interest to very bashful young girls.

POLITICAL TIPS.

The national election next month will be notable in that more than one-third of the members of the Senate are to be elected for the first time in the history of the country by popular vote. In eight of the Southern States there is no contest between the candidates of the different parties. In these States and the four border States of Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri and Oklahoma, Democrats will probably be elected without any trouble, giving the Democratic party this advantage. In the other twenty States there is a contest, and the political complexion of the next Senate will not be even approximately known till the election returns are published. If, however, there is the same dissatisfaction there was twenty years ago after the Democratic party attempted to reform the country, there will be a grand cleaning of both branches of Congress, and for another twenty or more years the legislation of Congress will be in favor of the interests of the people of the United States instead of the European.

The administration orators, who are helping the election of Democratic nominees for Congress in the several doubtful States, are not talking about the interests of the country so much as they are about what President Wilson has done for the country. In other words, the President is the issue in the present campaign, rather than that the Democratic majority in Congress has accomplished in behalf of the industries and the nation's prosperity.

The domination of the President in the present campaign is additional proof of his intention to be a candidate for re-election. In fact, he has had this in mind from the time of the Baltimore convention when he secured a modification of the proposed one-term plank. Later on in a letter to Senator Palmer he opposed the suggested constitutional amendment in a ten-page letter. Recently when asked if he intended making that letter public he replied: "Oh, that old letter? Why, that is not bothering me in the least."

George Friedlander, one of the prominent Progressives in New York City, has made an appeal to his party associates not only to enroll as Republicans this year but to abandon Frederick M. Davenport, the Progressive nominee for Governor, and support Charles S. Whitman, the Republican nominee for Governor. He has been writing to other Progressives all over New York State, announcing his position and the reason for it. He emphatically says that public duty demands that Progressives enroll in the Republican party and consecrate themselves to the service of that party on the side of liberalism against conservatism. Our claim to re-election, Progressives, lies only in our ability to prevent Republican successes, not to win victories of our own.

Senator Penrose, Republican nominee for re-election in Pennsylvania, has the ambition of Labor, as well as the Democrats and Progressives, to fight, and Samuel Gomper is urging every organized labor man in Pennsylvania to vote against him. Of twenty-seven votes in the Senate in which organized labor was interested, Mr. Penrose is recorded as voting twice in favor of labor, seven times in opposition, and nineteen times as not voting. As the situation stands, Penrose might as well have voted against all of the labor propositions as to have been on the fence nineteen times. Gomper's opposition would have been no worse.

While on the stump in Illinois last week Mr. Bryan evaded the suffrage question, but now that he is speaking in Nebraska he is putting in a good word for that movement, and is urging the passage of the woman suffrage amendment now before the voters of Nebraska. In a recent address before the Union League Club, said Bryan was not only a loyal Tammanyite, but was one of that organization's "bagnmen" that while he was justice of the Supreme Court he "scandalously used the patronage of the office for the benefit of Tammany politicians," and that "he is now equally in favor of Tammany Hall and the Hearst Independence League and is running as their joint candidate." Yet with these things behind him Gerard was appointed Ambassador to Germany, and is now endorsed by the President as a desirable candidate for the Senate.

The result of the elections next month will help the Republicans select a candidate for the head of their ticket in 1916. Already eyes are being cast in the direction of Whitman of New York, Congressman McCall of Massachusetts, Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania and Congressman Mann of Illinois, but the "if" of the campaign is very prominent at the present time in regard to anybody mentioned.

Ambassador Gerard, the administration candidate for the United States Senate from New York, is a man with a record, according to Mr. William D. Guthrie, who, in a recent address before the Union League Club, said Gerard was not only a loyal Tammanyite, but was one of that organization's "bagnmen" that while he was justice of the Supreme Court he "scandalously used the patronage of the office for the benefit of Tammany politicians," and that "he is now equally in favor of Tammany Hall and the Hearst Independence League and is running as their joint candidate." Yet with these things behind him Gerard was appointed Ambassador to Germany, and is now endorsed by the President as a desirable candidate for the Senate.

Evidence is being obtained in St. Louis of extensive fraudulent registration. Of the registered voters in the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards, 250 have been returned, bringing messages from grave yards, vacation homes, nurseries, hotels, and of street numbers that do not exist, according to the notation of the "Guard" and by the carriers. Four persons to whom the letters were addressed were reported as dead. The work of ferreting out the amount of illegal registration is still in progress.

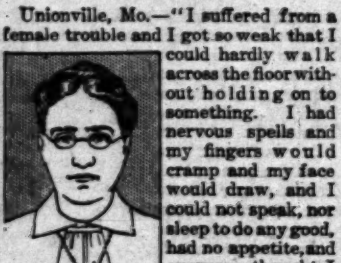

There is a good deal of fear among the Democrats of Tennessee that Gov. Hooper, Republican, will be re-elected, and Mr. Bryan tells the people of the State that they cannot be for Wilson and for Hooper and be consistent, that a triumph for Hooper will be a rebuke for Wilson. So the President Wilson issue is being carried to Tennessee as well as to the Northern States.

Gifford Pinchot is making a State-wide canvass of Pennsylvania in behalf of his election to the Senate, and is supplementing his platform utterances by a handshaking campaign. In whatever town he may be, he rises at daybreak and goes out into the street and shakes hands with all the working men he may meet on their way to work. Pinchot is also in the deal, distributing literature among the people who come to the campaign meetings, and alternates this with visits to the homes of the working men and trying to interest the women folks in Pinchot's campaign. She is also working the W.C.T.U. whenever the opportunity occurs.

The Democrats and "Progressives" of Vermont have joined issues, and the Democratic candidate for Senator has withdrawn in favor of the "Progressive" who Charles F. French, former Interstate Commerce Commissioner. If the Republicans do not re-elect Senator Dillingham, Vermont will have never been the credit of electing probably the only "Progressive" candidate that will be elected to the Senate this

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I could not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."

Mrs. MARTHA SEEVER, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Gov. Glynn's candidacy for re-election in New York State has been endorsed by the President in a letter that is as conspicuous for what it does not say as for what it does say.

The President merely "hopes" that the voters in November will look on the Glynn candidacy as embodying the cause of progressive legislation and the advancement of popular interests.

Richard B. Quay, who was a Roosevelt delegate to Chicago two years ago and has been active in the "Progressive" party of Pennsylvania since, declares that the "Progressive" party is "kneeling at the feet of the Democratic party in a deal for political patronage and plunder, in utter abasement of all its principles." And he says all kinds of things about William Flinn, national committeeman of the "Progressive" party from Pennsylvania, and says there is no way to rebuke his "traitorous leadership" except by voting the Republican ticket.

Nothing is great and broad enough, he says, "to cover Democracy, hypocrisy, political prostitution and William Flinn."

The result of the elections next month will help the Republicans select a candidate for the head of their ticket in 1916. Already eyes are being cast in the direction of Whitman of New York, Congressman McCall of Massachusetts, Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania and Congressman Mann of Illinois, but the "if" of the campaign is very prominent at the present time in regard to anybody mentioned.

Ambassador Gerard, the administration candidate for the United States Senate from New York, is a man with a record, according to Mr. William D. Guthrie, who, in a recent address before the Union League Club, said Gerard was not only a loyal Tammanyite, but was one of that organization's "bagnmen" that while he was justice of the Supreme Court he "scandalously used the patronage of the office for the benefit of Tammany politicians," and that "he is now equally in favor of Tammany Hall and the Hearst Independence League and is running as their joint candidate." Yet with these things behind him Gerard was appointed Ambassador to Germany, and is now endorsed by the President as a desirable candidate for the Senate.

Evidence is being obtained in St. Louis of extensive fraudulent registration. Of the registered voters in the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards, 250 have been returned, bringing messages from grave yards, vacation homes, nurseries, hotels, and of street numbers that do not exist, according to the notation of the "Guard" and by the carriers. Four persons to whom the letters were addressed were reported as dead. The work of ferreting out the amount of illegal registration is still in progress.

There is a good deal of fear among the Democrats of Tennessee that Gov. Hooper, Republican, will be re-elected, and Mr. Bryan tells the people of the State that they cannot be for Wilson and for Hooper and be consistent, that a triumph for Hooper will be a rebuke for Wilson. So the President Wilson issue is being carried to Tennessee as well as to the Northern States.

Gifford Pinchot is making a State-wide canvass of Pennsylvania in behalf of his election to the Senate, and is supplementing his platform utterances by a handshaking campaign. In whatever town he may be, he rises at daybreak and goes out into the street and shakes hands with all the working men he may meet on their way to work. Pinchot is also in the deal, distributing literature among the people who come to the campaign meetings, and alternates this with visits to the homes of the working men and trying to interest the women folks in Pinchot's campaign. She is also working the W.C.T.U. whenever the opportunity occurs.

Bathe your face for several minutes with Resinol Soap and hot water, working the creamy lather into the skin gently with the fingertips. Wash off with Resinol Soap and more hot water. Finish with a dash of cold water to close the pores.

Do this once or twice a day, and you will be astonished to find how quickly the healing, anesthetic Resinol medication soothes and cleanses the pores, removes pimples and blackheads, and leaves the complexion clear fresh and velvety.

Sold by all druggists. For sample free, write to Dept. 1-P, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Comprehensive and Varied Literary Features

The week-day paper runs in size from 36 to 32 pages and the incomparable Sunday Times contains from 144 to 152 pages each week, in addition to The Times Illustrated Weekly, which is replete with authentic and trustworthy information about Southern California and the Pacific Southwest, besides captivating travel stories and well-written descriptive matter of historic interest, fascinating fiction, appealing poetry and other delightful reading matter.

Free and untrammelled—the stalwart champion of Industrial Liberty—The Times stands for the best interests of all people, for sound morals, good policies, local, State and national, and for honest conduct both in public and private life.

The Times is recognized as a leading power in the material development of Southern California and in the work of exploiting, reliably and potently, the agricultural, horticultural, mining, commercial and other resources and possibilities of this most promising land between the two seas.

The widespread popularity and high standing of The Times are indicated by the fact that it regularly prints more display and classified advertising than any other newspaper in the world.

Subscription price $9.00 per year; 75 cents per month, postpaid. Sunday only, $3.50 per year. This is a very valuable edition for distant readers.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Druid Memorial Services.
For the first time in six years Orange Grove, U.A.O.D., will conduct memorial services Wednesday evening in honor of departed members. The services will be held at No. 1605 South Main street, Chaplain James R. Gee, officiating.

Entertainers Department Officers.
A reception and entertainment in honor of the department officers was given Saturday evening by Bartlett Logan Post and Corps at Patriotic Hall. It was a most enjoyable affair, officers attending from all parts of the division.

"A Night with the Movies."
Tomorrow evening, as the guests of the James Investment Company in its offices, the members of the A.C. Club will enjoy "A Night with the Movies." One of the films will show the P.C.A. M.A. convention of 1914. The sales force of the company will act as Reception Committee.

Pennsylvania Halloween Party.
The ladies of the Pennsylvania Society have charge of the Halloween party to be given by that organization tomorrow evening at the Fraternal Brotherhood building, No. 845 South Figueroa street. They have prepared a unique programme and ask that all Pennsylvanians in the city attend. Refreshments will be served.

Funeral Services Tomorrow.
The funeral services of the late Samuel Rees, former Councilman, will be conducted at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Boyle Heights Methodist Church. President Board of the University of Southern California, officiating. J. M. Rees will deliver a special address. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery, where the Masons will conduct the burial rites.

Veterans' Halloween.
A "spook party" to be given by the Roosevelt Camp of United Spanish War Veterans, is to be one of the features of Halloween. It will be celebrated Thursday night at the Patriotic Hall, in the Hall of Records. A literary and musical programme has been arranged, and old-fashioned refreshments will be served. Several hundred people have been invited.

Old-Fashioned Social.
An "old-time social" was given at the home of Mrs. George W. McKee, No. 1129 Mignone street, Friday evening, complimentary to the James Nelsons of Keosau, Iowa, by the Sunday-school class of J. D. Irons of the First United Presbyterian Church. The Nelsons are guests of relatives in Los Angeles during the winter. Talks were made by Prof. J. P. Thurston, Rev. J. C. Pinkerton and J. D. Irons.

Who Wins and Loses?
E. G. Beeson and Fred Stross are neighbors. Both live in East 22nd street, one at No. 1327 and the other at No. 1330. Both were visited by a burglar last night. One lost $5 and the other gained a $5 pair of boots. Breaking into Mr. Beeson's house the burglar fished a five spot out of a trouser pocket. When he went into Mr. Stross' home he removed his shoes for cat's paw effect.

Frightened away before he put hands on a single article of value, he left the boots behind. Yesterday the policeman on the beat dropped in and suggested that Stross give Beeson the boots and call the account squared. The decision will be reached today.

Standard for Oranges.

The chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., has sent the following suggestion to the Citrus Protective League as a standard for the shipment of California oranges: As a result of the investigations carried on last year, it is believed that the northern district oranges may be considered to be immature when the juice does not contain soluble solids equal to or in excess of eight parts of each part of acid present, acid to be calculated as citric without water or crystallization. It has been determined to base this figure upon the acid solids ratio in preference to the acid sugar ratio for the reason that the growers and packing-house foremen will be able to make the necessary analyses, which would be impossible in the case of sugars. As soon as the bureau has representatives upon the Coast, the question of instructing a limited number of packing-house employees in making these tests will be taken up.

War of Pulpits.

ANOTHER TARGET FOR DR. LOCKE.

REV. HARRY THOMPSON COMES OUT FOR THE "WETS."

Vicar of Church of the Angels Refers to Prohibition Ministers as "Misguided, Impotent and Pharisaical;" Also "Narrow-minded and Intolerant" for "Persecution Fads."

Another minister joined the pulpit war raging over the prohibition question yesterday. He is Rev. Harry Thompson, vicar of the Church of the Angels, and he is as strong against prohibition as Dr. Locke is for it. Dr. Thompson's sermon yesterday referred to prohibition pastors as the "large, misguided part of those who profess the Christian name," as "intolerant and narrow-minded," a "Pharisaic faction," "impotent" in their advocacy of the "modern fad of prohibition," which is "pernicious to the well-being of the people."

His text was: "Now therefore ye tempt ye God, to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear." Acts xvii.

"Personal liberty coupled with individual responsibility is the foundation of the Christian religion," he said. "In the teachings of Christ there is naught that savors of coercion; if a man will, he may let him do this or that. He would draw all men to him; never compel them to come."

"But among the followers of Christ there has always been a Pharisaic faction who thought they could improve upon the plan of salvation which Christ came to establish in the world."

"The foundation stone, personal liberty and individual responsibility, is to be attacked at our coming election by a large and misguided part of those who profess the Christian name. You have been flooded with literature with all the plausible arguments that could be invented, and many of you are in doubt as to the right course to pursue."

"I know you all want to do your Christian duty and I hope you will, according to the dictates of your own consciences. I interfere with no man's political action. But this law which is to prohibit the manufacture and sale of wine in our fair State is regarded as an infringement of our personal liberty and pernicious to the well-being of our people. There is no imperative side of the question which would lead me to support it. I am on the question has been passed by, viz: What has God, the Creator of the world, said on the matter? Does He anywhere condemn its use by His intelligent creation? This leads me to a further and more important question. Shall we take our code of morals and principles of living from His revealed word? Or shall we take the man-made code of morals and principles of living which this faction are impudently trying to force upon us? It is a serious question, and goes to the root of the whole matter. The God given code, or the code promulgated by a faction of well-meaning but intolerant and narrow-minded people? I prefer the God-given code, with all its liberty and not forgetting its responsibility, and believe all broad-minded and right-thinking people will do the same. Do not put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we are able to bear."

"The man-made code will be as the house built upon the sands. The winds and rains and floods of good sense and loyalty to God's law will wash it away to destruction when the moral conscience of God's people is awakened to a full understanding of His holy word and will."

"When Jesus instituted the Sacrament of His body and blood, He chooses two elements, one being bread, the staff of life; the other wine, which represents the richness and the fullness of God's blessing to mankind. The whole word of God must be rewritten, and a large part of it expunged before it can be brought into harmony with this new code of morals. Or is the word of God no longer to be 'A lamp to our feet and a light to our path'?"

"Is man relieved of his responsibility to God and to be hedged about with a lot of puerile laws which are good only for feet and a light to our path?"

"Moderation, the temperate use of His blessings, is enjoined upon all men; for as St. Paul tells us, 'God has given us richly all things to enjoy.' Now therefore why tempt ye God to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we are able to bear?"

FARMERS GET UP NEWSPAPER.

FIGHTING DEADLY EIGHT-HOUR MEASURE TO A MAN.

Rural Districts are Thoroughly Aroused Against Inimical Attitude of Amendment, so Campaign will Now be Waged to Acquaint City Voters with Wealth at Stake.

With an extended and efficient organization throughout the rural districts of Southern California, where thousands of volunteers have come forward to help in the campaign against the proposed "universal eight-hour law," the Farmers' and Fruit Growers' Federation, representing directly more than 15,000 agriculturists in the eight southern counties of the State, today begins the final week of its fight against that measure.

Men in charge of the federation's campaign assert that the country districts are thoroughly aroused. The farmers realize, they say, that the eight-hour measure constitutes the gravest possible menace to the State's agricultural interests, and they are preparing to vote against it to a man. In support of this statement it is pointed out that more than 2000 workers have volunteered their services for the campaign in Los Angeles county alone, outside of the city of Los Angeles. Similar copies of voluntary laborers also have come forward in the other counties.

Beginning today the Farmers' and Fruit Growers' Federation will send out 400,000 copies of a four-page circular in newspaper form, setting forth the farmers' objections to the proposed law. Before election day, it is planned to place one copy of this circular in the hands of every registered voter.

To the city voter who has not studied this law the following arguments are advanced by the federation:

"It will reduce the amounts paid to labor by doing away with the present system of 'over time,' for which skilled laborers are now paid at the rate of time and a half. That is to say, if they work one hour over the usual time, they are paid for the day and for an hour and a half in addition. This over-time system was devised by the labor unions and has worked satisfactorily both to labor and capital."

"If enacted, it will reduce the number of jobs by placing so heavy a burden upon employers in certain lines—notably the farmer—that he will be unable to withstand competition from other States, where his competitors are unhampered by such legislation."

"It will mean enormous waste at harvest time, through the spoiling of crops. In harvest seasons there is a shortage of farm labor even under present conditions. With an eight-hour day, this shortage would be appalling. The farmer could not harvest his crops in time to avoid heavy losses."

"At the same time it would increase the cost of living by curtailing production of farm products. The laborer who received less for his labor than now would have to pay more for food for himself and his family."

"And, finally, by ruining the State's great agricultural interests, it would bring to an end California's boasted prosperity."

Features of entertainment for the Chautauqua season have been announced, the first number to be given November 9 in Trinity Auditorium. A series of ten lyceum attractions has been scheduled. From January 18 to just returned from Washington, he has been working on the threatened tax on California wine. He will make speeches in California and Los Angeles.

One of the explanations advanced for a great increase in the amendment in the State is: The district attorneys are going to make it a point in the interior office districts who have received the vicious measure."

fitting or more perfect memorial since time began. These bells shall bring to us again, in memory, the gracious words of our mother, Mrs. C. A. Galt.

"What a bell! It is the bell of all its paths, all its power depends on the balance of the atoms contained in the bell. The crack in the bell's breadth of a hair on one side may'st forebode, every atom in that bell is ruined. Few men can stand the test of a bell. The bell is the symbol of every atom is poised and set in harmony with every other atom contained in it, sets forth the character of Mrs. C. A. Galt. The bell is the symbol of any bell was truer than the character of this godly woman. We dignify ourselves, our city and Southern California with the name of this woman. We grave to honor this daughter of "Mrs. Otis has taken hold of the soul of California. Only four California writers have done it—two in prose and two in poetry. The two in prose are Bret Harte and Helen Hunt; in poetry, Joaquin Miller and Mrs. Otis. "A hundred men are trying to write dialect poetry. Ninety-nine fail because they do not understand the language, when it is in the thought. James Whitcomb Riley thinks dialect; that is why he is the only great dialect poet. Mrs. Otis got hold of the soul of California. She saw in the trees, the flowers, the footpaths, the rocks, with cloth of gold, an entirely new theme. To her, California lifted her veil.

"Ever now and then God raises up a seer. Only one now is living who can get hold of the soul of California; that one is Joaquin Miller.

"There once were only three perfect flower poems: Burns's 'Mountain Daisy,' Wordsworth's 'Daffodils,' Bryant's 'Fringed Gentian.' Now there are four, for I challenge the critical scholarship of America to deny that Mrs. Otis's 'Hibiscus Flower' is worthy to live in the company of the classic three. It is as perfect as the flower; the bloom itself is not more beautiful nor more deathless than this poem:

"I think the sunset, jealous of your flame

Did pluck its crimson glory from your stem,
And there, above the amber of the west,
A glowing ruby from its diadem
Has laid it shining on the dead day's breast."

"She was the one seer of Southern California who could hear the footsteps of the dead of the historic past, and greet every bird and flower as it came to the front in the procession of the seasons.

"The early rains have awakened a million seeds in the soil, and in the capillaries of the poppies the hidden strength is rushing up through the sod. She was always first to greet them, but now they will look for her in vain.

"Riley tells how all nature acted with a sense of loneliness and loss when wee Mahala died:

 " "Little Haly, Little Haly," cheeps the robin in the tree;
 "Little Haly," sighs the clover; "Little Haly," means the bee;

BEYOND ESTIMATE.

Jane Addams of Hull House fame indulges in some speculation as to the spiritual reaction upon humanity from the whole sale slaughter of the war. This is beyond all estimation. We imagine that to a large degree all persons in all countries are affected by the great tragedy. We do not doubt that thousands of sensitive persons are dying from the shock.

SAME OLD DOG.

And the same old manger. Carranza is in the manger now. He says he doesn't want any hay, but he suspects Villa of wanting both hay and manger. Looks as if there would not be any outcome any more than there would be any kind to the little darky's watermelon or any core to his apple. They fight to the death for things down there and then nobody gets them.

BELGIAN FARMERS.

There is a move on foot to encourage their coming to California. It is more than likely that the war will bring as the first emigrants to America a people who are heart-sick of conflict and who will devote themselves with the energy of desperation to the pursuit of peace. The Belgians are a splendid people, and sympathy would win them the heart of the State from the day of their arrival.

REFLECTIONS.

R Without the use of the mirror to reflect our outward appearance we should never know what manner of men and women we seem to be to ourselves. And then we are not sure we so appear to others. For the looking-glass only tells half the story. If every night we held a mirror up to our souls wherein we could see the innermost parts of us, we should spend time on reflections of deeper significance, to reveal us to ourselves as we more truly are.

SPEAKING UP.

The Realty Board has declared itself by two-thirds vote against Statewide prohibition. This organization is closely identified with the city's largest interests. It is composed of keen business men who make an intimate study of every question that will affect the commerce and industry of California. Their definite stand means a great deal to every proposition which they feel called upon to champion or oppose. The public has profound respect for men who take an uncompromising position on the big questions of the hour.

NO FEELING.

A Los Angeles man was in the courts a few weeks ago for having used an instrument to stop eavesdropping over party-line telephones. He was released without punishment. Now it develops that the same sort of instrument has been patented by a man in Nebraska and that perhaps people will soon be using this device wherever party lines are in operation. It is curious how an idea of this sort is received by three or four people in different sections at the same time. Nobody ever knows whether all were inspired by some outside source or whether one man first had the idea and the others tapped his wire.

LOYAL TO FRANCIS.

It must have warmed the heart of Prof. J. H. Francis, superintendent of the Los Angeles public schools, to have been received yesterday on his return to the city by an automobile procession almost a mile long. The people who helped to make up that parade were only paying themselves a tribute of respect when they showed to this sound and good man their appreciation of his splendid services. Prof. Francis does not have to be explained or indorsed to Los Angeles. No one owes anyone else any apology for him. The personal attacks against him have been inspired by mean prejudices and they are not worth the serious consideration of anybody. Large and spontaneous receptions like that of Saturday morning, as we said before, are gratifying because they show the disposition of the people to hold in the right regard one who brings them a fine capacity for usefulness and effective work.

MOVEMENT OF WHEAT.

The wheat crop of the world last year was divided as follows: In the United States about 1,000,000,000 bushels, or ten bushels per capita; in Russia, 450,000,000 bushels, or three and one-half bushels per capita; in France, 320,000,000 bushels, or eight bushels per capita; in Austria and Hungary, 250,000,000 bushels, or five bushels per capita; in Germany, 150,000,000 bushels, or two and one-half bushels per capita; in Italy, 200,000,000 bushels, or six bushels per capita; in Spain, 150,000,000 bushels, or seven and one-half bushels per capita; and in Great Britain, 60,000,000 bushels, or one and one-half bushels per capita.

Russia, Austria-Hungary and Italy had an ample supply of wheat for their people, but none to spare for export. France had a surplus of 20,000,000 bushels, and Spain a surplus of 20,000,000 bushels.

In Germany there was a deficit of 200,000,000 bushels, in Great Britain a deficit of 300,000,000 bushels, and in the United States a surplus of 400,000,000 bushels.

The surplus of the United States is needed in Great Britain and Germany. These nations must and will have it, and means will be found to get it there, for while American cotton may be interned in American ports for want of ships to transport it, American wheat will only be temporarily impounded, for "men must eat."

The price of flour is not likely to be lowered to consumers, notwithstanding our bumper crop.

THEIR GREAT MAN.

It is rather startling to realize how much each of the opposing armies depends upon its one great man. For the Germans it is the Kaiser. In him is embodied all their hope. They look to him as the savior of the nation, the great strategist who will lead them on to glorious victory and duly chastise their enemies. Hoch der Kaiser! Therein lies their whole creed.

And for the allies it is Kitchener. So long as they have Kitchener there is nothing to fear. No matter what calamity befalls, they comfort themselves that Kitchener had anticipated it, prepared for it, and was probably sacrificing a sprat in order that he might catch a mackerel. Kitchener represents the impregnable rock that cannot fall. He is a veritable god among men to their eyes. His word is law, his decision final, his wisdom incomparable.

Kitchener of Khartoum and William of Germany are called upon to bear the great burden of this war. That they are great men, both of them, no one will dispute; but can any man be so great that he can bear such a burden; his guiding mind upon which millions hang with reverence and awe? Is his word of command, which whole nations will unquestioningly obey? Think of the contents of one man's head, the accumulation of knowledge of one man's brain, having such vast, autocratic power. Yet millions of minds regard these two men as almost infallible.

Nothing could be more disconcerting to democratic ideals. We of these United States, who place such sublime faith in the people, for the people, by the people, must reward this one man, surely with alarm. If this is one of the necessities, one of the inevitable results of war, what is to become of us when our turn comes? Which of all our public men could we place on such a pinnacle? We who are wont to hurl ribald criticism at any and every public man who essays to rise above our own limited standards?

A Kitchener in undisputed command of the United States is unthinkable. Yet we can appreciate the necessity of singleness of purpose, of one dominant will. For good or ill, one mind must rise to the supreme place in such great crises; for good or ill the nation's faith must repose in one person.

It is safe to say that if anything happened to either Kitchener or the Kaiser the cause would be lost for his country. Without the guiding brain of these men their armies would feel demoralized, utterly hopeless. New autocrats would arise to take their places, but the unerring calmity would have intervened—they would have experienced the shattering effect of realizing that the greatest of men are but mortal; that invisible God, upon whom they are wont to lavish lip service alone, is still the only supreme arbiter of fortunes.

It is an awkward reflection, but very patent, that the vast majority of men find it easier to place their ultimate faith in a visible, tangible man rather than in an invisible God. For Kitchener and the Kaiser they will take the last supreme risks; for God they begrudge their church offerings on the Sabbath.

When the average man concedes to God Almighty the supreme power he is generally a hypocrite, following accredited conventions. But when he gives his trust to man, as in the case of the Kaiser and Kitchener, it is a faith implicit, a profound, deep conviction for which he will make any blind sacrifice.

Ah, had we but served our God as we are prepared to serve our Kitcheners, Christians would have indeed enveloped the world! Not until Napoleon was captured and sent to St. Helena was Europe released from the devastating wars of a century ago. Not until either the Kaiser or Kitchener is conclusively proved to be a fallible mortal who cannot save himself will this war cease. So long as either army can maintain an unblemished faith in their one great man they will go on fighting to the death. But destroy the object of that faith and alas for human weakness, they will feel themselves beaten. There is no torture in dying while we still have faith, the inspiration of a great belief. But when faith has gone we have no heart for anything, much less dying nobly.

NO GOLD BRAID FOR BRYAN.

Mr. William J. Bryan as Secretary of State appears to have impressed upon some members of Congress the conviction that he is the wrong man in the wrong place. In a debate in the House on a proposition to raise the salary of Mr. Bryan an enthusiastic friend urged that the salary of the Secretary were simple; that he did not want his chauffeur to wear skin-tight white breeches and rosetted hat and top boots; that in his simple Nebraska home the coachmen wore no titles and the maids no caps, and when the gardener was snatched from his accustomed place and brought into the house there was no gold braid on his breeches.

Congressman Murdock was of the opinion that there is danger to the democracy in gold braid and that even a plug hat has its perils.

Another Congressman averred that he would never vote to increase the salary of a Secretary who wore a plug hat when he traveled.

Congressman Fowler said that Mr. Bryan is loved because of his rare gifts of mind and soul, his manly courage in battling for liberty and equality of rights for all the people, and his tireless efforts to reduce the expenses of government.

Congressman Mondell said that Secretary Bryan appeared before his committee and called their attention to the fact that not only did the government furnish him a carriage and a coachman, but that it had been the practice in the past to detail a man from the department as a footman to the carriage of the Secretary of State. The Secretary said he did not believe that was quite proper; that while the footman was necessary, the government should not be required to pay that extra charge unless specifically provided for, and that he had deducted from the salary of the footman paid by the government a sum sufficient to cover the hours during which he had been so serving the Secretary of State. He did not state exactly the sum saved to the treasury, but after a careful and somewhat complex series of mathematical calculations I have arrived at the conclusion that the sum thus saved is about $13.37 per annum, or thereabouts.

Congressman Humphreys of Washington favored an appropriation for an additional assistant secretary, because that would enable Mr. Bryan to devote more time to lecturing upon the Chautauqua platform. That would take the distinguished lecturer out of Washington, and the best services rendered by Mr. Bryan to the country were when he stayed out of the city of Washington and out of his office.

And this seemed to be the opinion of many members, both Democrats and Republicans.

NEUTRAL NATIONS.

When part of the world goes to war the way of the belligerents is hard, but neither is the path of the neutrals strewn with roses. Of all nations at the present time the United States has the least cause for anxiety as to the future, but even we must pick our way carefully, exercise constant vigilance and be in a state of eternal preparedness.

Italy's responsibilities, however, are not unclouded with fear, as is the case with the neutrals of Europe. On Holland and Switzerland, with the fate of Belgium ever before their eyes, dread and misapprehension hang like a heavy cloud. They are compelled to strain their resources to the utmost and to impoverish their people, not knowing in what desperate straits a new turn in affairs may find them. Next to actual fighting, mobilization in the worst of all that can overtake a people.

Denmark's future is hazardous, as she holds the geographical key to the North Sea and may any day become an obstacle in the path of the big fighters, as Belgium found herself at the beginning of hostilities. Sweden and Norway have no guarantee against Russia if the allies are victorious, or against Germany if the Teutons batter down their combined enemies.

Italy is in a precarious position. The Kaiser has a grievance against her for remaining neutral and the Czar has told her plainly she can expect nothing from Russia unless she takes an active part in helping the allies. Portugal is on the brink and may have to draw the sword on the demand of Britain. The Socialist menace grows stronger every day in Spain as the fighting continues, and Spain dare not call her son her own. Rumania is divided against herself; Turkey gambles on the chances of the Teuton and Greece on the hopes of the allies, but neither knows where each country will stand at the conclusion of the war. China watches the action of Japan with doubt and suspicion.

Whichever rival combination finally wins in Europe the victors will probably divide the spoils on the assumption that "those who were not for us were against us." No wonder the small neutrals view the conflict with alarm and misgiving.

The difference between the conditions prevailing on the two hemispheres was never so marked in the history of the world. The eastern is black and lurid, the western white and shining. Hope colors the half of the globe where, under the Monroe doctrine, our peace-loving nation holds the balance of power. Doubt and fear darken the other half, where the jealousies of rival powers have forced a bloody issue. The last great movement of quiet, industrious men and women from the black half to the white half of the world, already encouraged by the opening of the Panama Canal, will be hastened by the horror and fear engendered by the present colossal war. So millions of productive acres between Cape Horn and Labrador, at present untended, will be occupied and brought into cultivation.

BAITING THE ALMIGHTY.

BY HENRY SIMON.

If God were at all like the being whom large numbers of people imagine Him to be, He would certainly have a hard time now.

It would be trying enough for you and me, if we were ever so wise and patient, to have uncounted millions of people asking for forgiveness and expecting full expiation for misdeeds, without moving even a little finger in an attempt to right the wrong they have done.

It must be hard enough for God to be patient when He listens to men who have committed sins and got afraid, asking for forgiveness, and fifteen minutes later getting up and arguing on another scheme of doing the fellow-woman.

There are devout burglars. The highwayman of the Middle Ages who contributed to the church fund in order to buy divine pardon for the hold-ups he was going to devote, kneeling on the eve of battle and asking God to be good enough to let them inflict as much damage as possible to the enemy with as little damage as possible to themselves. The German Emperor has recently been seen in the act of offering up prayer for the success of the German arms. The French are holding services demanding victory for themselves. The English, Russians, Austrians and all the rest of them undoubtedly do the same.

I am sure it is the best sign of God's greatness that He lets that pass by in His patience, instead of letting His wrath descend upon the great armies and smiting them all dead in their tracks for trying to induce him to turn accomplice in wholesale murder and destruction.

But it is plain that He is infinitely patient—or else that He has a sense of humor. To listen to those human lice forming the Creator of their righteousness, correcting the impressions His all-seeing eye has taken in, trying to sway His omniscient judgment and endeavoring, each swarm of lice, to turn the tide of the Almighty's sympathy in its favor, might well bring a smile to the Divine lip.

That is to say, that's what you and I would imagine He might do. But that's only because you and I have no conception of what infinite wisdom, infinite charity, infinite love really do mean.

For the Almighty listens to the impassioned louse-eloquence that ascends to heaven, listens to each swarm of lice clamoring for justice, which simply is another term for fulfillment of its own desires, and most assuredly acts without paying one ten-millionth fraction of an ounce of attention to the clear and humanity and begging of the lice down there below.

Good Hint for Fathers. [National Monthly:] "Charlie," said the young mother, "I've decided on a name for my boy. We will call him Imogen."

Papa was lost in thought for a few moments. He did not like the name, but if he opposed it his wife would have her own way.

"That's nice," said he, presently. "My first sweetheart was named Imogen, and she will take it as a compliment."

"We will call her Mary, after my mother," was the stern reply.

[Baltimore American:] "He is a man we never would anybody ill." "Then what does he want to be a doctor for?"

RIPLING RHYMES. THE RIGHT WAY.

On some bright future day, mayhap, the kings themselves will do their slaying, when wanting strife they'll go and scrap, and let their people do their haying. Then rulers of all grades and kinds must choose when their private swains, when they've made up their blooming minds on blood and death and fur and slaughter. The angry king will not command his subjects to go forth in armor; he'll take his broadsword to his hand and swing it like a bushy farmer. And while to scenes of gore he flees, and lops the arms from rival princes, his countrymen will trim their trees, and raise large crops of prunes and quinces. A few dead kings would make no odds, except to courtier and fawner, so let them battle for their gods, and for their crowns and misad honor. I cannot see a reason why good men should into battle frolic, and lose their legs and blood and die, because some monarch has the colic. Most men who on grim horrors sup on fields of battle, at this writing, would scratch their heads and give it up, if you should ask them why they're fighting. Some King or Emperor or Czar has told them they must march to glory, and from their persons have the tar knocked by the foe—the same old story. And so I'm waiting for the day when men no more to war will rally, and kings who suffer for a fray will do their scrapping in the alley.

It Was All Right. [New York Times:] She was very much in love with him, and one evening, while they were alone, she asked:

"Frank, tell me truly; you have kissed other girls, haven't you?"

"Yes," replied the young man, "hundreds one you know."

Reason for It. [Washington Star:] "We must admit that the cost of living is rather high," said the campaign adviser.

"Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "we must do something with the money. We can't buy votes with it any more."

Hard Luck. [Stanford Chaparral:] Algy: Did you enjoy yourself roughing it this summer, old top?

Lionel: No, blawsted luck! First the chef took sick, then someone stole our safety razors, and, to cap it all, the phala broke down!

Or Scar the Paint. [Penn State Froth:] She: Why do authors always speak of a smile creeping over the beautiful face?

He: Perhaps they're afraid that if it went any faster it might kick up a dust.

Sudden Rush of Trojans Changes the Football Situation

He had Their Number.

RALPH GLAZE'S BRAINS TOO MUCH FOR WHITTIER.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.

RALPH GLAZE OF U.S.C. is some coach. He proved as much on Saturday when he drove his team to victory over Whittier, crushing at age fell swoop the aspirations of the Quaker college for a championship team.

U.S.C. beat Whittier not so much because the Trojan varsity was superior, man for man, but because Glaze had his eyes open when Whittier beat Occidental the week before.

We saw that in the third and fourth quarters McCune could not be stopped because he was plunging just off tackle and inside the Quaker ends. He saw the mistake made by Occidental in trying to circle the Whittier ends when they were lying ten yards out beyond the tackle.

Last Saturday U.S.C. didn't attempt a wide end run. Davis and Livernash were driven off tackle with deadly consistency. No side pass was attempted to the ends; they were all short passes over center to Davis.

The Trojans worked under instructions from the side lines throughout the game, the far-seeing eye of Glaze picking out the weaknesses in the Whittier defense and offsetting with unflinching accuracy.

Glaze took Len Livernash, only a sub back field man on the U.S.C. Rugby squad last year, and made him one of the hardest-running halves that ever represented U.S.C., reminding the old-timers of Gene Shute in his strong running.

Davis showed himself to be a wonder at picking his holes, as did Livernash. Glaze showed that he solved the Whittier offense. The close Whittier interference was spoiled, the close-in Trojan ends, leaving the runner without protection.

Whether Glaze was sufficient of Occidental's style of play to beat them this coming Saturday is a question yet to be solved. Whittier beat Occidental by sending the center of the Tiger line. Glaze beat the Quakers by smashing off-tackle backs. Will Glaze try to beat Occidental by linesmashing, like Whittier, or will he uncover a bewildering series of plays to baffle the Trojans, who showed themselves none too able to solve either the offense or defense of Whittier?

Rugby Title in Balance.

MECHANICS AND MANUAL REMAIN.

CHAMPIONSHIP SEEMS TO BE BETWEEN THESE TWO FIFTEENS.

BY HOWARD W. ANGUS.

The city prep rugby series has only started, but two games have been played. Still Manual and Poly stand out. According to dope, these two must settle the city championship between them, and then take a swing at Pomona High, which is going through the citrus belt like a tornado.

In spite of the fact that their good ship Come Back is on the rocks and taking water fast, the Cliffdwellers have not given up. If Poly defeats Manual and they defeat Poly and Hollywood, they still have a chance. It is the story of a driving man after; still it is a possibility.

Up in the citrus belt it has dwindled down to Pomona and Redlands. Redlands defeated Riverside 5 to 3.

High Schools Close.

THREE TEAMS ARE STILL UNDEFEATED.

PASADENA, SANTA ANA AND LONG BEACH IN THE RUNNING.

Long Beach, Pasadena and Santa Ana must fight it out among the prep for the American football championship. All three hit poor Whittier high hard, eliminating that school beyond all possibility of a come back. Both Santa Ana and Long Beach took a hard fling at San Diego, leaving the far southerners in tears. Pasadena downed Chaffey Union in a test run.

There seems to be no way to head off one of the above mentioned three from winning the title.

Of the three Long Beach has by far the cleanest style, in a regular game the beach goal line has not been crossed, while they have rolled up a total of 84 points against their opponents.

Pasadena has rolled up 56 points to its opponents' 25, while Santa Ana has made 18 to its opponents' 24. All three of these High Schools fattened their totals at the expense of Whittier.

When it came to defeating Whittier, Pasadena made the best job of it. Santa Ana won by a 16 to 4 score, while Long Beach's score was 41 to 0 and Santa Ana's 25 to 0.

When it came to the U.S.C. freshmen battles, Long Beach did all the shouting. The baby Trojans fell at the beach by a 16 to 0 score, while they held the Crown City boys to a 0 to 0 tie and wallowed Santa Ana, 20 to 0.

Against San Diego it was Santa Ana who did the best. Its victory was 14 to 0, while Long Beach's was 14 to 0. Pasadena plays the southerners November 7. But it defeated Chaffey Union, 10 to 11, and Shatt's men played Dana and his team to a 7 to 7 tie.

On dope it will be a bitter fight between Long Beach, Santa Ana and Pasadena, with the beachmen the favorites because their goal line has not been crossed and their defeat of the U.S.C. freshmen. Santa Ana and Long Beach will settle their little difference November 7 in Santa Ana.

Big Game is Coming.

TITLE IS FAR FROM BEING WON.

POMONA, OCCIDENTAL AND THE TROJANS LEFT IN RUNNING.

Although the American football season reaches its highest point next Saturday when Occidental and U.S.C. come together in what promises to be a titanic struggle, the 1914 championship is still uncaptured. It may be admitted, however, that on paper the star of Ralph Glaze is in its ascendancy.

The victory of the Trojans over the Quakers in that hair-raising, heart-stopping battle of Saturday, brings U.S.C. to the front with a boom. But the Trojans' terrible 103 to 6 win over Redlands on the same afternoon, proves them to be very much alive and not dead ones in spite of the Whittier defeat. When Pomona walloped the L.A.A.C. 35 to 0, the Huns convinced the south that Stanton was still to be feared.

U.S.C. Occidental or Pomona will be the 1914 champions. Whittier has fallen. Its 14 to 7 victory over the Trojans was erased by its 18 to 14 defeat of Occidental. The varsity that defeats U.S.C. will be the champions now if that feat can be accomplished.

The L.A.A.C. and Redlands University are hopelessly crippled by defeats and are out of the running utterly. They may be forgotten. They cannot possibly hobble to the top.

The game between U.S.C. and Occidental will clear much. A clean-cut Trojan victory will put Occidental down and out and leave U.S.C. and Pomona to settle the little tangle.

A Tiger victory will confuse matters somewhat. But if the Trojans, also, defeat the Huns, they will be the champions. If Pomona should defeat the winner of Saturday's game, Coach Stanton will claim the title. But a Whittier victory over Pomona might cloud it.

So the championship of the south has still to be captured. On paper the Trojans have a little the edge of the Trojans and Huns ready to maul things up when the opportunity arrives.

EXORBITANT SALARIES END.

No effort will be made to retain players on the Los Angeles club who feel that they can better themselves by jumping to the Federal League.

"No team in the minor leagues has paid better salaries than the Los Angeles club, some of the men drawing more than they could get in the majors," said President Barry. "If they are not satisfied, I will make no effort to retain them."

"We borrowed money this season to keep the league going, but to continue this policy would be suicidal."

"The Feds cannot use many men from the Coast League, and the owners will refuse to be held up by players claiming to have offers from them. I am making no effort to sign the men now on the club."

"I had three exceptionally high-salaried men on the club in Ryan, Hughes and Wolter this season. They all gave me their best efforts, and I have no kick coming. Some of the other owners, however, were not so successful, their best-paid men being of the least use to them."

"The time is ripe for a showdown. It is now a question of sustaining the game on a sensible basis, or killing it outright. The deficits of the past season prove this."

Berry is believed to have spoken for the entire league.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 25.—Wolverines crushed Yale beaten, Harvard tied, Princeton, Minnesota and Wisconsin eyelash victories and Michigan "Argies" smothered by Nebraska.

Here is enough to furnish football rosters for a season's argument, but it happened all in one day, Saturday, October 24. East and West gridiron prophets were hanging on the ropes after the battles.

There were several other results which told of the turning of the tide in favor of the "minor" eleven, but these mentioned touched the high spots in the day's gridiron fray.

Turning toward the East the monkey-wrench thrown into the Yale machinery by the Washington and Jefferson giant killers was not entirely unexpected, but it hurt just the same.

The Elis have been the exponents of the open game and after the Notre Dame massacre, it seemed as if the Blues would be invincible at this style.

The victors seemed not to have been frightened by the bogey of Canadian Rugby and swept the bulldog off its feet after the manner of Forward passes figured in the scoring and W. and J. is as handy at these tactics as is Yale.

The victors over the Elis had a

MICHIGAN MEETS HARVARD ON GRIDIRON SATURDAY

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The most important intercollegiate football game of the present season will be played in the Harvard stadium on Saturday, when the Michigan and Harvard teams meet for the first time in twenty-one years.

As representatives of the eastern and western methods of attack and defense the two eleven hold high rank in their respective territories. Because of this fact and the excellent records made by both teams in the early games this fall the result of the contest will be awaited with more than usual interest by followers of football throughout the country.

The personnel of the teams and coaching staffs add greatly to the interest in the contest since both eleven are made up of football players of exceptional caliber and one equal in ability to the Crimson trio, Logan, Bradlee and Mahan. The lines of both teams are fast and heavy and strong in both offensive and defensive play.

Presuming that the eleven enter the game with the same vigor and victory may rest with the coaching staffs and the system of attack which they adopt. Both Haughton and Coach Yale are expected to make the contest some exceptionally brilliant plays are likely to be uncovered.

Coach Yale has stated that he considers the Harvard game one of the biggest intercollegiate matches of recent years.

Western football experts predict that he will spring several intricate plays that will startle the eastern followers of the sport. Evidently something of this sort is expected for the advance sale of seats for the game has been unusually heavy, and a capacity crowd of more than 35,000 is forecasted for the stadium on Saturday.

Michigan, which has probably met more eastern colleges and universities on the football field than any other western institution, first played Harvard in 1891. In the fall of that year the Wolverines met Harvard, Yale and Princeton, all within one week. Harvard won 4 to 0, Yale, 11 to 0 and Princeton, 13 to 4. Two years later Western, Harvard, Yale and Stevens were played within a week, Michigan being defeated in all but the game with Stevens. Since 1901 Michigan has played nineteen games against eastern eleven, winning ten, losing seven, and tying two.

THE SCORES FOLLOW:

In 1901, Michigan 138, Buffalo 0; Michigan 22, Carlisle 0. 1902, Michigan 17, Pennsylvania 17. 1907, Michigan 0, Pennsylvania 23. Michigan 4, Syracuse 18. 1909, Michigan 4, Syracuse 0. Michigan 12, Pennsylvania 6. 1910, Michigan 11, Syracuse 18. Michigan 21, Pennsylvania 23. Michigan 20, Cornell 7. 1912, Michigan 43, Syracuse 7. Michigan 17, Cornell 0. Michigan 13, Pennsylvania 0.

Harvard's tussle with Penn State possibly foreshadows a fairly decent scrap when the Wolverines meet the open game and after the Notre Dame massacre, it seemed as if the Blues would be invincible at this style.

Princeton's victory over Dartmouth, or rather the stand of the Green Mount boys against the Tigers. The score was uncomfortably close for the contest in a deadlock. Deeds of U.S.C. was with a wonderful kick from the thirty-yard line on a free kick. "Ink" Wieman tied the score with a wonderful kick from the thirty-yard line.

The automobiles, clustered around the field, had their lights on. The rays from these shot out over the field with blinding effect. In the confusion Drury Wieman shot through the U.S.C. team for a touchdown, although the Tigers claimed an 8 to 3 victory. The game dragged on into the night, the variable in a deadlock. Deeds of U.S.C. had put the ball between the goal posts from the thirty-yard line on a free kick. "Ink" Wieman tied the score with a wonderful kick from the thirty-yard line.

At the end of the first quarter the score was 13 to 0 in Chaffey's favor with Seay feeling like a wildman and nursing a desire to tear somebody to pieces and drink his blood. The old Pomona backfield shute had Pasadena in the air and the up-country backs were streaming through the Chaffey City line.

But Seay sent in his fast backs the second quarter and they ran the Occidental rings around Chaffey and tied the score. Then in the third quarter, stirred to action by a few of Seay's vitriolic remarks, Pasadena put over another touchdown and won the day.

But Shutt's men made a ferocious fight in the last quarter and it was all that Pasadena could do to stem the attack. Siemon was the bright Chaffey star, doing most of the gain-

How It Looks FROM THE BLEACHERS

The great battle—the titanic game, the supreme struggle, the all in all as far as Los Angeles is concerned—is six days away. After three long years the Trojans and Trojans struggle on the gridiron again.

As a thriller it promises to eclipse the last two great battles between Occidental and Pomona. Away back in the fall of 1910 U.S.C. won the victory over Occidental, 5 to 0. Try as the Trojans did, they could not cross the Tiger goal line and the game went down in history as the "controversy-free" yard line.

The automobiles, clustered around the field, had their lights on. The rays from these shot out over the field with blinding effect. In the confusion Drury Wieman shot through the U.S.C. team for a touchdown, although the Tigers claimed an 8 to 3 victory. The game dragged on into the night, the variable in a deadlock. THE PRESENT intercollegiate football season has been featured by some incompetent officiating which has resulted in wrangling and hard feelings on the part of players and coaches and a great deal of tedious delay which is exceedingly tiresome to those who pay money to view the games.

Aside from Referee Kienholz and Irvine, who was head-linesman in the Occidental-Whittier fracas, the officiating has been worse than useless. Especially was this the case last Saturday when Kienholz was hampered by officials who gave conflicting evidence and rulings which forced him to reverse his decisions on several occasions.

To date, the chief duties of the officials aside from the referee seem to have been those of running interference for members of one team or the other.

To quote one observing person at the U.S.C.-Whittier game, the officiating looked like a chorus girl contest at a cheap theater, the ball being placed one way and then, after hearing the applause, the ball was taken the other way, the decision receiving the loudest acclaim from the bleachers being allowed to stand.

The chief cause of the poor officiating is a lot of silly prejudice and suspicion on the part of the different teams, which causes the good officials to be side-tracked and incompetents put in their places.

LOWER FREIGHT
RATES SOUGHT.Interior Counties Object to Back-haul Charges.Plan to Organize Trucks in Last Free Day.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 25.—Shippers of the interior counties of Southern California have started another fight to lower rates on freight, their activities extending at present to the southern territory itself. At a meeting of the Interior Counties Freight Bureau of Southern California which was attended by business men from San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, Los Angeles and Imperial counties, it was voted to institute cases before the State Railroad Commission looking to the regulation and lowering of all freight rates between local points.

In light of the action of the carriers in establishing a back-haul rate from the East on rates competitive to the new canal rates, the local shippers are to undertake the formation of a warehouse and forwarding company at Tidewater and put on a truck line for the delivery of water-shipped goods to the interior.

The refund back-haul charges collected by the railroads since the Interstate Commerce Commission decision was rendered and held up as to certain classes and commodities will be demanded by the shippers represented at the session and steps will be taken at once for the collection of such claims.

The organization represents the united merchants of San Bernardino, Riverside, Redlands, Corona, Colton, Pomona, Santa Ana, Upland, Ontario and Imperial points.

WINERIES CLOSED.

The government tax on wines to meet the revenue caused by the Democratic administration has practically stopped the manufacture of sweet wines throughout the vineyard districts of San Bernardino county. Coupled with the Federal imposition is the possibility of the state-wide prohibition measure passing at the November election. About one-third of the output of wines in this county still remains unmade. The winery men state that they cannot afford to advance the tax on wine with the financial market. In the present unsettled condition.

Thursday was the last day before the wine-tax law was signed and the wineries of the county broke all records in the output of wines.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Oct. 25.—While sitting in his chair in Barrack "C" (old men's barracks) waiting the call to breakfast in the dining-room just across the hallway this morning, Alfred M. McGary, 81, was observed to throw up a hand and at the same instant his head dropped over to one side. Joe Betancue, a room-mate, who had just been speaking to him, quickly reached his side and found his pulse had ceased beating. The surgeon pronounced it a case of acute cardiac dilation.

McGary was an early-day member of the home, having been admitted in 1893 from San Francisco, at which place he is survived by a son, W. W. McGary, and daughter, Arlene McGary. He was a native of Vermont and served in the Civil War in the United States navy.

WHITTIER, Oct. 24.—A ten-acre Whittier Valencia Grove changed hands at the good round price of $40,000 this week. W. H. Morehouse the seller and purchaser is Mrs. H. L. Musick of Pasadena. The property is one of the best in the Whittier district, and includes a beautiful twelve-room ranch-house. In the deal Mr. Morehouse takes Pasadena property in exchange for part of the sale price, the balance in cash.

The Whittier grove consists of six-year-old Valentinas. This sale is of unusual interest, both on account of the figure of the price and from the fact that it follows two other good deals in Whittier citrus property this week.

DEBATORS CHOSEN.

Karl Chapman and Howard Parks will represent the Whittier High School in the first intercollegiate debate of the year. Chapman and Parks were chosen this week after a strenuous preliminary contest. The first debate will be with South Pasadena at Whittier, and the second, an eight-hour amendment now before the California voters. Whittier will oppose the law.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 25.—There is pending before Judge Robert Clarke of Ventura county, sitting for Judge Farmer of this county, an action that is probably unique in the history of litigation in this or any other State. It is a proceeding to oust from office five Supervisors of Kern county—the entire Legislative body of the county. Judge Clarke has the matter under advisement and his decision may be rendered any day.

But two weeks ago the Supreme Court of California rendered a decision in another ouster proceeding brought against a public official in Kern county that may have the strongest bearing upon the Supreme Court's decision in the present case. In the case of James K. Kamy, City Marshal of Bakersfield, who was ousted from office by the three Superior Judges of Kern county, sitting en banc for failure to enforce the laws against houses of prostitution, the highest court decided that as ouster proceedings brought on the initiative of any citizen are deemed by the statute to be of a summary nature no appeal may be taken from the judgment of the trial court. Should Judge Clarke decide against the five Supervisors they will be without the right of appeal.

VENICE, Oct. 26.—Eight passengers of an automobile barely escaped being killed here tonight when their car was struck by a Short Line train on the Pacific Electric at Westminster avenue.

Irvin Norris and his father, William Norris, were the only injured out of eight passengers. The son, driving the machine, started across the tracks, unconscious of the approaching train, which was upon his machine before he could do anything. Motorman Adenman says he did not see the automobile until he was upon it, and then it was too late to avert the accident.

PASADENA, Oct. 26.—Pasadena schools are doing everything in their power to make a splendid showing of grounds and buildings for the preliminary contest of the Los Angeles County 1915 General Committee, which will name the school next year which wins the prize for the greatest improvement in the beautification of its grounds within a year.

The preliminary inspection is expected in addition to those big ones. One of the pupils will have to be ready. The Pasadena schools are in last place in the contest of the Los Angeles County 1915 General Committee, which will name the school next year which wins the prize for the greatest improvement in the beautification of its grounds within a year.
